

Care Provider Training Genetic and Molecular Lab Testing Notification/Prior Authorization Process

To help you better understand our Genetic and Molecular Lab Testing Notification/Prior Authorization process, we're offering training online. The hour-long live training sessions will give you an overview of the process and show you the online tool you'll use to submit your notification/prior authorization request. If you attend a live training session and have questions, please register to attend a live question and answer session.

These sessions are all held online and registration will be required to attend. Please register for the sessions most convenient for you. All times listed are Central Time.

The registration system may show you a page for an unlisted training session when you choose one of the following links to register for a session. If you see that page, please come back to this document and follow the link again. If you have questions about training or the notification/prior authorization process, please contact us at unitedoncology@uhc.com. Thank you.
